

For more information please go to www.quadriga.com

Your guests will love the possibilities – from the inside out

Imagine how your guests will react when they experience entertainment through an easy-to-use system that has second-to-none sound and picture quality. Want to know what their reaction will be? Contact Quadriga to learn more about their partnership with Bang & Olufsen.

Bang & Olufsen has become the brand of choice for audio and video solutions for some of the biggest names in the hospitality industry by providing flat screen televisions that have consistently clean and clear images, incredibly vivid colours and realistic sound.

Quadriga, the strategic business partner to many of the world's leading hotels, provides a single, complete solution that combines Internet, Entertainment and Branding & Promotion guest and hotel services. These services are complemented by the latest flat screen displays and a range of products and services for meeting rooms and public areas, all underpinned by Quadriga's established partner, financing and service capabilities.

Bang & Olufsen and Quadriga together - a perfect match for giving your guests the ultimate experience.

Intelligent Guest & Hotel Services

BANG & OLUFSEN

More product information at www.bang-olufsen.com

Bang & Olufsen – the best picture

When you choose a Bang & Olufsen solution, you get much more than just an ordinary TV.

Bang & Olufsen televisions are examples of intelligent design, with the easy-to-use technology a result of our belief that technology should adapt to people. Each television contains a comprehensive range of advanced technologies which allow you to automatically adapt their brightness, colour and contrast to match the ambient light in an interior. Additionally, all entertainment, as well as the room's lighting and curtains, can be controlled with one single remote control, which can even be customised to match the furnishings in the room.

Flexibility is the key to distinctive design

When it comes to design, our televisions stand out and look good from any angle – even when they're switched off. When you switch the TV on, the design takes a step back and the state-of-the-art performance starts to shine.

All Bang & Olufsen televisions can be placed practically anywhere – on the floor, on a shelf or on the wall. Some are even motorised. Many also come in a broad palette of colours, providing even greater opportunity to create a distinctive expression.

Whether you want a compact TV or you want to transform your room into a complete cinema, Bang & Olufsen can provide you with the perfect solution.

For more information about the range of Bang & Olufsen televisions and features compatible with Quadriga's Internet and Entertainment solution, contact Quadriga at www.quadriga.com.